Will Thomas, Joe Whitesides and Bailey McClintic Have Miraculous Escape From Death; Jump for Lives.

Suffering from painful burns in ived in a gasoline explosion which occurred on a moving Santo Fe freight train near Guam about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Will Thomas, J. R. Whitesides and Bailey McClintic, Santa, Fe employes, were brought to Abuquerque zesterday evening, and removed to their homes. where today they were all reported as resting after having spent a restless night.

The gas explosion occurred in manner unknown to the injured men while they were engaged in cleaning the caboone of the freight train. which was running at twenty miles an hour. The explosion came without warning and within a moment the caboose was a mass of flames. The men retained sufficient presence of mind to jump from the caboose a quickly as the first flash came. The escape from death or terrible injurman made a rush for the caboo door, he was enveloped in flames. the sand to prevent cremation.

Mr. Thomas, who is a conductor, had both hands and arms painfully burned and was slightly injured when lumping from the caboose Mr. Whitesides, a chemist had both hands, erms and his face burned Mr. McClintic, a brakeman, had his left hand and right ankle sprained. The enginemen, discovering the fact that the caboose was on fire wher the air-hose burned, brought the train to a stands.ill and hurrled; rendered aid to the injured mer Their burns were later dressed Santa Fe surgeon
